About this issue:

↓ 46

This issue is triggered if structured data items contain fields that do not meet

Google's guidelines.

Implementing and maintaining your structured data correctly is important if you want to get an edge over your competitors in search results.

If your website markup has errors, crawlers will not be able to properly understand it, and you may run the risk of losing the chance of gaining rich snippets and getting more favorable rankings.

For more information on the structured data requirements, see schema.org, Google documentation, or our article.

How to fix:

Check structured data on your webpages with a validation tool. Please note that different markup testing tools may show different results.

We recommend that you use the Rich Results Test tool to review and validate your pages' structured data against their rich snippet requirements.

2 incorrect pages found in sitemap.xml

About this issue:

A sitemap.xml file makes it easier for crawlers to discover the pages on your website. Only good pages intended for your visitors should be included in your sitemap.xml file.

This error is triggered if your sitemap.xml contains URLs that:

- lead to webpages with the same content
- redirect to a different webpage
- return non-200 status code

Populating your file with such URLs will confuse search engines, cause unnecessary crawling or may even result in your sitemap being rejected.

How to fix:

Review your sitemap.xml for any redirected, non-canonical or non-200 URLs. Provide the final destination URLs that are canonical and return a 200 status code.

Warnings	Amount
191 pages have low text-HTML ratio About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster. How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.	191 ↓2.42K
62 pages have duplicate H1 and title tags About this issue: It is a bad idea to duplicate your title tag content in your first-level header. If your page's <title> and <h1> tags match, the latter may appear over-optimized to search engines. Also, using the same content in titles and headers means a lost opportunity to incorporate other relevant keywords for your page. For more information, please see this Google article How to fix: Try to create different content for your <title> and <h1> tags.	62 ↓30
23 pages have too much text within the title tags About this issue: Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page. For more information, please see this Google article How to fix: Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.	23 0

21 pages don't have an h1 heading About this issue: While less important than <title> tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an <h1> tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an <h1> tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly. How to fix: Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.	21 ↓2.36K
12 issues with unminified JavaScript and CSS files About this issue: Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space and comments from the source code. Minifying JavaScript and CSS files makes their size smaller, thereby decreasing your page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article. How to fix: Minify your JavaScript and CSS files. If your webpage uses CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to minify their files. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.	12 ↓167
9 links on HTTPS pages lead to HTTP page About this issue: If any link on website points to the old HTTP version of website, search engines can become confused as to which version of the page they should rank. How to fix: Replace all HTTP links with the new HTTPS versions.	9 ↓4
7 external links are broken About this issue: Broken external links lead users from one website to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded. Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken. Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website. How to fix: Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource. If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.	7 ↓2

Warnings	Amount
2 pages have a low word count About this issue: This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200. The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines. Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts. For more information, please view this video How to fix: Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.	2 ↓6
2 outgoing internal links contain nofollow attribute About this issue: The rel="nofollow" attribute is an element in an  tag that tells crawlers not to follow the link (e.g., "Nofollow link example"). "Nofollow" links don't pass any link juice to referred webpages. That's why it is not recommended that you use nofollow attributes in internal links. You should let link juice flow freely throughout your website. Moreover, unintentional use of nofollow attributes may result in your webpage being ignored by search engine crawlers even if it contains a valuable content. How to fix: Make sure not to use nofollow attributes by mistake. Remove them from  tags, if necessary.	2 ↓12
1 page doesn't have a meta description About this issue: Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users. For more information, please see these articles: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results and On-Page SEO Basics: Meta Descriptions How to fix: In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.	1 ↓2.38K

193 issues with blocked external resources in robots.txt About this issue: Blocked external resources are resources (e.g., CSS, JavaScript, image files, etc.) that are hosted on an external website and blocked from crawling by a "Disallow" directive in an external robots.txt file. Disallowing these files may prevent search engines from accessing them and, as a result, properly rendering and indexing your webpages. This, in return, may lead to lower rankings. For more information, please see this article. How to fix: If blocked resources that are hosted on an external website have a strong impact on your website, contact the website owner and ask them to edit their robots.txt file. If blocked resources are not necessary for your site, simply ignore them.	193 ↓ 26
133 outgoing external links contain nofollow attributes About this issue: A nofollow attribute is an element in an  tag that tells crawlers not to follow the link. "Nofollow" links don't pass any link juice or anchor texts to referred webpages. The unintentional use of nofollow attributes may have a negative impact on the crawling process and your rankings. How to fix: Make sure you haven't used nofollow attributes by mistake. Remove them from  tags, if needed. For more information, please see this Google article.	133 ↓ 44
89 pages require content optimization About this issue: Content optimization enhances on-page clarity, improves user engagement, snippet eligibility, and topical authority. It's especially important for pages with a lot of content. How to fix: - Follow the advice provided in the error details for each page. - Improve your content with AI using the Content Optimizer tool.	89 ↑ 5

30 links have non-descriptive anchor text About this issue: The issue is triggered if the anchor text for a link (internal or external) is non-descriptive. An anchor is considered to be non-descriptive if it doesn't say what the page is about (click here, right here, etc.). This issue makes it difficult for the target page to be indexed by search engines and rank for relevant search requests. Learn more How to fix: To let users and search engines understand the meaning of the linked-to page, use succinct anchor text that describes the page's content. Learn more	30 ↑ 12
24 links on this page have no anchor text About this issue: The issue is triggered if a link (external or internal) on your site has an empty or naked anchor (i.e., just a URL), or anchor text only contains special characters. This issue makes it difficult for the crawlers to understand what the page is about and affects the performance of the linked-to page in search results. How to fix: Use anchor text for your links where it is necessary. The link text must give users and search engines at least a basic idea of what the target page is about. Also, use short but descriptive text. Learn more	24 ↓ 5
11 links to external pages or resources returned a 403 HTTP status code About this issue: This issue is triggered if a crawler gets a 403 code when trying to access an external webpage or resource via a link on your site. A 403 HTTP status code is returned if a user is not allowed to access the resource for some reason. In the case of crawlers, this usually means that a crawler is being blocked from accessing content at the server level. How to fix: Check that the page is available to browsers and search engines. To do this, follow a link in your browser and check the Google Search Console data. - If a page or resource is not available, contact the owner of the external website to restore deleted content or change the link on your page - If a page is available but our bot is blocked from accessing it, you can ask the external website owner to unblock the page, so we can check all resources correctly. You can also hide this issue from your list.	11 ↓ 1

3 issues with broken external JavaScript and CSS files About this issue: If your website uses JavaScript or CSS files that are hosted on an external site, you should be sure that they work properly. Any script that has stopped running on your website may jeopardize your rankings, since search engines will not be able to properly render and index your webpages. Moreover, broken JavaScript and CSS files may cause website errors, and this will certainly spoil your user experience. How to fix: Contact the website owner and ask them to fix a broken file.	3 ↓ 38
1 page has more than one H1 tag About this issue: Although multiple <h1> tags are allowed in HTML5, we still do not recommend that you use more than one <h1> tag per page. Including multiple <h1> tags may confuse users. How to fix: Use multiple <h2>-<h6> tags instead of an <h1>.	1 ↑ 1

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

A sitemap.xml file makes it easier for crawlers to discover the pages on your website. Only good pages intended for your visitors should be included in your sitemap.xml file.

This error is triggered if your sitemap.xml contains URLs that:

- lead to webpages with the same content
- redirect to a different webpage
- return non-200 status code

Populating your file with such URLs will confuse search engines, cause unnecessary crawling or may even result in your sitemap being rejected.

How to fix:

Review your sitemap.xml for any redirected, non-canonical or non-200 URLs. Provide the final destination URLs that are canonical and return a 200 status code.

Low text to HTML ratio

Project name: www.moshjd.com

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less.

Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results.

Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster.

How to fix:

Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Duplicate content in h1 and title

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

It is a bad idea to duplicate your title tag content in your first-level header. If your page's <title> and <h1> tags match, the latter may appear over-optimized to search engines.

Also, using the same content in titles and headers means a lost opportunity to incorporate other relevant keywords for your page.

For more information, please see this Google article

How to fix:

Try to create different content for your <title> and <h1> tags.

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Long title element

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page.

For more information, please see this Google article

How to fix:

Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.

Missing h1

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

While less important than <title> tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an <h1> tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an <h1> tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly.

How to fix:

Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.

Unminified JavaScript and CSS files

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space and comments from the source code.

Minifying JavaScript and CSS files makes their size smaller, thereby decreasing your page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings.

For more information, please see this Google article.

How to fix:

Minify your JavaScript and CSS files.

If your webpage uses CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to minify their files.

If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

Links lead to HTTP pages for HTTPS site

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

If any link on website points to the old HTTP version of website, search engines can become confused as to which version of the page they should rank.

How to fix:

Replace all HTTP links with the new HTTPS versions.

Broken external links

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Broken external links lead users from one website to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded.

Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken. Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website.

How to fix:

Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource.

If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.

Low word count

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200.

The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines.

Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts.

For more information, please view this video

How to fix:

Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.

Nofollow attributes in outgoing internal links

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

The rel="nofollow" attribute is an element in an  tag that tells crawlers not to follow the link (e.g., "Nofollow link example"). "Nofollow" links don't pass any link juice to referred webpages. That's why it is not recommended that you use nofollow attributes in internal links. You should let link juice flow freely throughout your website. Moreover, unintentional use of nofollow attributes may result in your webpage being ignored by search engine crawlers even if it contains a valuable content.

How to fix:

Make sure not to use nofollow attributes by mistake. Remove them from  tags, if necessary.

Missing meta description

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users.

For more information, please see these articles: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results and On-Page SEO Basics: Meta Descriptions

How to fix:

In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.

Links with non-descriptive anchor text

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

The issue is triggered if the anchor text for a link (internal or external) is non-descriptive. An anchor is considered to be non-descriptive if it doesn't say what the page is about (click here, right here, etc.). This issue makes it difficult for the target page to be indexed by search engines and rank for relevant search requests. Learn more

How to fix:

To let users and search engines understand the meaning of the linked-to page, use succinct anchor text that describes the page's content. Learn more

Multiple h1 tags

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Although multiple <h1> tags are allowed in HTML5, we still do not recommend that you use more than one <h1> tag per page. Including multiple <h1> tags may confuse users.

How to fix:

Use multiple <h2>-<h6> tags instead of an <h1>.

Blocked external resources in robots.txt

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Blocked external resources are resources (e.g., CSS, JavaScript, image files, etc.) that are hosted on an external website and blocked from crawling by a "Disallow" directive in an external robots.txt file. Disallowing these files may prevent search engines from accessing them and, as a result, properly rendering and indexing your webpages. This, in return, may lead to lower rankings. For more information, please see this article.

How to fix:

If blocked resources that are hosted on an external website have a strong impact on your website, contact the website owner and ask them to edit their robots.txt file.

If blocked resources are not necessary for your site, simply ignore them.

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Nofollow attributes in outgoing external links

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

A nofollow attribute is an element in an  tag that tells crawlers not to follow the link. "Nofollow" links don't pass any link juice or anchor texts to referred webpages. The unintentional use of nofollow attributes may have a negative impact on the crawling process and your rankings.

How to fix:

Make sure you haven't used nofollow attributes by mistake. Remove them from  tags, if needed. For more information, please see this Google article.

Only the first 50 rows are shown in reports. To view the full table, export it as a CSV or Excel file from Site Audit.

Links with no anchor text

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

The issue is triggered if a link (external or internal) on your site has an empty or naked anchor (i.e., just a URL), or anchor text only contains special characters. This issue makes it difficult for the crawlers to understand what the page is about and affects the performance of the linked-to page in search results.

How to fix:

Use anchor text for your links where it is necessary. The link text must give users and search engines at least a basic idea of what the target page is about. Also, use short but descriptive text. Learn more

External pages or resources with 403 HTTP status code

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

This issue is triggered if a crawler gets a 403 code when trying to access an external webpage or resource via a link on your site. A 403 HTTP status code is returned if a user is not allowed to access the resource for some reason. In the case of crawlers, this usually means that a crawler is being blocked from accessing content at the server level.

How to fix:

Check that the page is available to browsers and search engines. To do this, follow a link in your browser and check the Google Search Console data.

- If a page or resource is not available, contact the owner of the external website to restore deleted content or change the link on your page
- If a page is available but our bot is blocked from accessing it, you can ask the external website owner to unblock the page, so we can check all resources correctly. You can also hide this issue from your list.

Broken external JavaScript and CSS files

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

If your website uses JavaScript or CSS files that are hosted on an external site, you should be sure that they work properly. Any script that has stopped running on your website may jeopardize your rankings, since search engines will not be able to properly render and index your webpages. Moreover, broken JavaScript and CSS files may cause website errors, and this will certainly spoil your user experience.

How to fix:

Contact the website owner and ask them to fix a broken file.
